Rebecca Salcito is setting standards for precise execution of luxurious custom home building in Scottsdale as chief creative officer of Salcito Design Group. Her portfolio is nothing short of spectacular and has garnered her top accolades and recognition, including the Luxe RED Award for traditional home of the year and many magazine covers.

With a lifelong passion for creativity, this Dynamic Woman expanded her design, fashion, art, and architecture knowledge by attending Moore College of Art and Design and studying abroad in Paris, France.

"A Dynamic Woman pours endless amounts of energy into everything in her world," she says. She is a testament to this definition when it comes to her husband, children, dogs, friends and favorite sports teams. "With a positive mindset and determination, you can do anything."

Salcito is motivated by her mother, who has influenced her appreciation of the little things in life, from cherishing fresh-cut flowers to simply dressing up for a local charity event. Salcito adores her mother's ability to balance professional and personal aspects of life as inspiration for her own work-life balance.

Deeply embedded in her local community, this Dynamic Woman regularly contributes to the K2 Adventure Foundation, The Arizona Human Society and Turning Point USA. Beyond Scottsdale, Salcito has also recently donated to the Israel Defence Forces.

She encourages the next generation of female leaders, "Find something you are passionate about and stick with it. Loving what you do will allow you to grow into a leader."

Despite her demanding schedule, this Dynamic Woman is actively engaged in Scottsdale's outdoor scene, finding joy in running, hiking and playing pickleball in her leisure time.
